Huge Cedar

Photos of
The Whitney Camp
Blind Slough
Clatsop County
Oregon
taken August 1911.

Thick stand –

Railway Neg S.E. Cor Sec 13 8N 7W.

Fine Specimen
of
Douglas Fir

Commencing to cut for the fall—

Commencing the first operation of felling —

Falling a Spruce

Falling a big Spruce tree

Undercutting preparatory to sawing the trees and then wedging for the fall

Logging on the Spring boards

The Giant falling

A good harvest today—
Cocoa a good harvest—

The Bucker and his tools —

saw - axe - wedge - sledge

oil bottle — axe

Bucking a big Spruce

Sniping or chopping the end so that the log will ride better
when [illegible]

A Big Fir Log

W. 19 Ford

W 13 7
Ford

A Wonderful chance —

" Fir Canyon "

Choker on log hitched to main line ready for the haul

Ready for the flypast to begin

Note the Chaps [illegible]

Ready for the haul

Log hauled to the yarder is now ready for the road donkey which is [illegible]
up the [illegible]

The Big Flag Pole donated to the Astoria Centennial Aug 11 1911
[illegible] ft long – [illegible] butt 20" [illegible]

Big Fir log at Rollway ready for taking out [illegible]

W.H.H.
Ford

No 2 Power

MF 17x14 Road Donkey

No 6 11x13 Jardine Kinsley -

Log Yarder

No 8 — The first Steam Engine
ever used in the woods.

Bucking Wood for Donkey use

The Saw Fliers

At the Factory

Note the End hooks in log which is poised ready to be dropped into place on the bucks

Trucks used for the most the unloading ground

WASH

62 tons on drivers

A good train load of logs

The unloader

W.
2

Mouth of Grass creek & Bluestone

SIWASH

W 158.
Ford

W.77 Ford

Will Ford

W. 75.
Ford

Dan Fahey

W65
Ford

W.b b.
Fort

W. 83

WB7.
Ford

Bridge #1 Spur 13

W113
Ford

W.8L.
Ford

W. I
Fort

Charles Stinchfield is the center one of the five persons standing

HOUSH ALBUM
1912—72
BLACK LEAVES
The Housh Co., Makers Boston
12.095.001